PLEADING FOR HER CHILD

Margaret Lewis Prays the Court to Restore Her Baby to Her.

Taken From Her by the Children's Guardians-Judge Miller Willing If the Papers Are Defective.

Two years ago the infant of Margaret Lewis was taken from her by the Board of Children's Guardians, through Justice Mills, and yesterday the mother appeared before Judge Miller and appealed through Lawyer Sillers to the court for the repossession of the baby.

Agent Lewis, of the Guardians, was in court to see that the mother did not get the baby.

The husband of Mrs. Lewis, it was shown, deserted her at the birth of her child and she was left destitute. She Frederick R. Coffin, of New York, Mr. Robert Fletcher Rogers, of New York, Mr. Robert Keeling, or Baltimore, and Mr. Bourke Scott, of this city.

The bride entered the church with her uncie. Capt Crossby P. Miller, U. S. A.

The bride and groom left on one of the early trains in the afternoon for a northern trip. went to the hospitals and charitable institotions, but was refused admittance. Then a complaint was filed by the alleged mistress of the husband and Agent Lewis seized the child and sent it to a family in the country.

The heart-broken mother sought aid through every channel to gain possession of her child, without avail, and as the last resource went to the court.

It was proved that the mother had an excellent character and, though frail and worn by grieving, she was a hardworking

THE INQUISITIVE CLERK.

He Finds a Customer Who Is Too Much for Him. Legless and Handless, But Their Tes-"It takes a whole man to tell the whole outh," remarked a colored attorney in The inquisitive clerk is everywhere and everybody has had an experience with him, says the St. Louis Post. One of the genus was "called down" in a remarka-bly funny manner in a West End drug witness stand to testify against Rachel Brown, colored, who was before the bar on the charge of disorderly conduct in an store this week. A tall, solemn-looking man came in and asked for a balf dozen 'Bottles?' asked the clerk. "Yes, bottles," responded the man.

"With or without corks?" asked he.
"With corks," was the response.
"Want 'em empty?"
"Certainly,"
"And new?"

"Do you suppose I want bottles you've The clerk said such an idea never en-tered his mind, and then asked:
"What do you want them for?"
"To break," responded the impatient

A discussion between the court and lawyer about the subject of entire and whole witnesses ensued and the trial went on.
The next witness went on the stand.
"Hold up your right hand," said Clerk
Harper, "and be sworn."

"Ain't got none,"he answered, holding
'up an arm, minus a hand.
"Judge, are you going to allow a witness to testify when he hasn't a hand with which to be sworn?" spoke up the colored lawyer.
Somebody suggested that the man be What?"

The customer beckened him to lean over the counter and caught hold of the lapet of the clerk's coat and whispered: "I wouldn't want the neighbors to get onto it, but I rather like to hear em crack. Just a whim of mine. It's better than breaking windows and gives me just as much pleasure, but my supply has given out and I want a few to hold me over until the next carlond arrives." The clerk looked at the customer doubt-"Oh, well, of course it's nothing to me," he said.

"Then what made you ask about it?"

The cierk made no reply, but got the bottles. As he was making the change, however, the spirit moved him to ask:

"What do you do with the corks?"

"Chew 'em." was the reply. "It's good for the digostion. Try it some time."

Then the customer walked out and the clerk shook his head and tapped his fore-head, but he asked no more questions. Get your Cabinet Photo Free.

IN SILVER AND BLUE.

Cecilia's Academy Combined a Jubilee With Its Commencement. Seldom does a commencement prove so enjoyable an affair as did that of St. Cecilia's Academy at Metrerott Music Hall yesterday afternoon.

The house was well filled with parents and friends of the pupils, and although the programme was rather long, there rang throughout it all such a tone of gladness, even the valedictorian dis pensing with the customary "farewells," that the exercises were both inter esting and entertaining to the end.

In addition to the usual commencement

In addition to the usual commencement exercises the pupils took advantage of the occasion to commencement the silver sacerdotal jubiles of their beloved pastor, Rev. J. O'Brien.

After the entrance of the pupils, to the strains of a "Marche Hongroise" rendered by Misses J. McDonnid, M. Cox, L. Burke, A. O'Connor, S. McDonnid, C. Smith, A. Miller, and E. Patterson, and a lively chorus by the seniors, the class of '95 came in, wearing over their dresses of showy white broad scarfs of silver and blue.

Well! Have We Satisfied

you? This is addressed to those who have taken us on trial, as it were. Trial orders are what we want, what we advertise so persistently for.

Trial orders are the means of bringing us new regular customers-customers that believe in us and recommend us.

"Where do you buy your provisions and groeries?" you inquire of your neighbor.

And the answer comes: "From Emrich!"

Then follows your trial order and almost invariably your steady custom. The 'phone will do! No. 347 is ours.
